

Faculty Bio

Jonathan Kay, MD

Timothy S. & Elaine L. Peterson Chair in Rheumatology & Professor of Medicine
University of Massachusetts Medical School
Director of Clinical Research, Rheumatology
UMass Memorial Medical Center
Worcester, Massachusetts

Dr. Jonathan Kay is Professor of Medicine at the University of Massachusetts Medical School and a physician at UMass Memorial Medical Center in Worcester, where he directs clinical research in the Division of Rheumatology. He received his medical degree from the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco, California. He then completed an internship and residency at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia and fellowships in rheumatology and immunology at The Brigham and Women's Hospital and Harvard Medical School in Boston, Massachusetts.

Dr. Kay is an ad hoc reviewer for many journals, a member of the editorial boards of Best Practice and Research Clinical Rheumatology and the Journal of Clinical Rheumatology, and a member of the Advisory Board of Arthritis Research and Therapy. Section Editor of "Systemic Disorders with Rheumatic Manifestations" for Current Opinion in Rheumatology, he has presented his work at international lectures and authored more than 100 journal articles and book chapters.

Dr. Kay is a Fellow of the American College of Rheumatology and of the American College of Physicians. His clinical interests span the spectrum of rheumatic diseases, with special interest in rheumatoid arthritis and other forms of inflammatory arthritis. He was a member of the group that developed the 2010 American College of Rheumatology/European League Against Rheumatism (ACR/EULAR) Diagnostic and Classification Criteria for Rheumatoid Arthritis. He chairs the Rheumatology Working Group and is a member of the Internal Medicine and Musculoskeletal Topic Advisory Groups for the World Health Organization in its Revision of the International Classification of Diseases (ICD)-11.