

Faculty Bio

Gail M. Gregg, MS, APRN, GNP-BC
Nurse Practitioner
Boston Medical Center
Instructor in Medicine
Department of Medicine and Gastroenterology
Boston University School of Medicine
Boston, Massachusetts

Ms. Gregg has been a nurse for 21 years. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from the University of Massachusetts Lowell. She was the recipient of the Chancellor's Medal for Academic Excellence and graduated Summa Cum Laude in 1995.

As a Registered Nurse, Gail worked in Adult Critical Care and earned certification as a Critical Care Registered Nurse from the American Nurses Credentialing Center. Gail worked as a staff nurse in the Surgical Intensive Care Unit at Brigham and Women's Hospital for most of her nursing career. Gail was a presenter at Surgical Grand Rounds and played a pivotal role in conducting a pilot research study around glycemic control practices in the ICU that contributed significantly to advancing the care and outcomes of post-operative patients. Gail was a recipient of the Nancy King McDermot Scholarship for this effort.

Gail went on to earn a Master of Science degree in Adult-Genrotological Nursing from the Univerity of Massachusetts Lowell in 2011. She was recognized by the College of Health and Environment with the Deans Award for Academic Achievement. Gail is board certified as a Nurse Practitioner through the American Nurses Credentialing Center.