

Faculty Bio

Dr. Javier Morales is in private practice with the Advanced Internal Medicine Group in Great Neck, New York. After having graduated from University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey—New Jersey Medical School in Newark, he completed residencies at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center and North Shore University Hospital, where he served as Chief Medical Resident. He serves on multiple committees at St. Francis Hospital in Roslyn, New York. In addition to coauthoring several publications, he has served as principal investigator for a number of studies and clinical trials.

Active in the educational sector, Dr. Morales has presented at many continuing education symposiums both nationally and internationally. He further serves as clinical instructor for several nurse practitioner programs and physician assistant programs, in addition to the internal medicine residency program at North Shore University Hospital and Winthrop University Hospital, where he is an Associate Clinical Professor of Medicine.

In addition to being an avid musician and percussionist, Dr. Morales is fluent in Spanish, Italian, and Portuguese. A fellow of the Interamerican College of Physicians and Surgeons, he is also a member of the American Medical Association, American College of Physicians, American Society of Clinical Pathologists, National Hispanic Medical Association, Nassau County Medical Society, American Academy of Family Physicians, and the American Association of Clinical Endocrinologists.