

Jennifer Joseph, MS, PA-C

Jennifer Joseph has practiced as a physician assistant in the field of orthopedics since 1996. Until 2016 she was practicing part-time at Morristown Memorial Hospital in addition to volunteering at the Rutgers Promise Clinic in Newark. She currently volunteers at the Hope Clinic in Plainfield, NJ. In 2005 she joined the Rutgers PA Program's faculty where she is an Assistant Professor. She earned her Bachelor of Science degree from Rutgers University PA Program in 1996 and then went on to earn her Master of Science degree from the University of Medicine & Dentistry of NJ (UMDNJ) in 2004. She has been a member of the Physician Assistants in Orthopedic Surgery (PAOS) since 1999. Mrs. Joseph has lectured on orthopedics topics for various CME courses in the past.