

Faculty Biography

Sharmeel K. Wasan, MD
Fellowship Director,
Section of Gastroenterology
Boston Medical Center
Assistant Professor of Medicine
Boston University School of Medicine

Dr. Wasan joined the faculty of the Section of Gastroenterology in 2010. She is a graduate of Stanford University in Palo Alto, CA and received her medical doctorate from Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York. She completed her internal medicine residency at the University of Maryland Medical Center and the Brigham and Women's Hospital, where she also worked as a hospitalist for one year. She then completed her fellowship in gastroenterology at Boston Medical Center.

In her role as Fellowship Director for the Section, Dr. Wasan is actively involved in the training of fellows and coordinates educational activities for the Fellowship program. She teaches the fellows during their morning reports and pre-clinic lectures, serves as an endoscopy mentor, organizes and mentors the fellows clinic, and facilitates the fellow's overall career development. Dr. Wasan's clinical interests are in inflammatory bowel disease, general gastroenterology, and colorectal cancer prevention. Her research interests include vaccination strategies, health care maintenance, and pregnancy related issues in patients with Crohn's disease and Ulcerative Colitis. She is currently serving on the Women's Committee of the American College of Gastroenterology and on the Patient Education Committee of the Crohn's and Colitis Foundation of America (CCFA). She is also Fellow of the American College of Gastroenterology.
