

Alan Tan, MD, Medical Director Cancer Research/Cancer Immunotherapy & Medical Director of Hematologic Malignancies, Cancer Treatment Centers of America, Phoenix

Dr. Tan completed a residency and fellowship at the Saint Louis University School of Medicine in St. Louis, Missouri, followed by a fellowship in hematology & oncology at the same location. He has past clinical experience as a hematologist and oncologist at a hospital system in Northwest Indiana.

Throughout his career, Dr. Tan has authored peer reviewed original research publications and presented his work at many lectures.

Dr. Alan Tan currently serves as the medical director of cancer research and director of cancer immunotherapy at Cancer Treatment Centers of America in Philadelphia. He is also a principal investigator on several clinical trials at CTCA.