

Dr. Lindholm is a Clinical Associate Professor of Family Medicine and Community Health at the University of Massachusetts Medical School in Worcester, Massachusetts. Dr. Lindholm has been caring for patients of all ages and teaching medical students and residents for over 20 years. She has a busy family medicine practice at the UMass Medical Center in Worcester, MA, and directs the Family Medicine Clerkship for the third year medical students at University of MA Medical School. She also co-directs the UMass Center for Faculty Development's Teachers of Tomorrow Series which helps community faculty further develop their teaching skills. Mary completed medical school at the Medical College of Pennsylvania and residency at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital, both in Philadelphia, PA. At home, she is supported by her husband and four children.