

Heather M. Johnson, MD, MS, MMM, FAHA, FACC, FASPC – Preventive Cardiologist

Dr. Heather M. Johnson is a Preventive Cardiologist at the Christine E. Lynn Women's Health & Wellness Institute of Baptist Health South Florida, and Clinical Affiliate Associate Professor of Medicine at the Charles E. Schmidt College of Medicine at Florida Atlantic University. She earned her Bachelor of Science in Molecular Biology, Master of Population Health, and Doctor of Medicine degrees at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She graduated with Honors from the University of Southern California Marshall School of Business with a Master of Medical Management. Prior to joining the Lynn Women's Institute, she practiced as a General Cardiologist and Preventive Cardiologist for 10 years at the University of Wisconsin Hospital. Dr. Johnson is a leader in population health, heart disease prevention, and women's health with over 50 research publications. She is active with multiple medical organizations including the American Heart Association, American College of Cardiology, American Society of Preventive Cardiology, and WomenHeart. Dr. Johnson is a guest medical expert on television newscasts, radio shows, and podcasts. She has received numerous awards. Notably, Dr. Johnson has been inducted into the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society and the Beta Gamma Sigma International Business Honor Society.