

Faculty Bio

John Strickler, MD

Associate Professor

Associate Director of Clinical Research – GI Oncology

Co-Leader of the Molecular Tumor Board

Duke University

John Strickler, MD, is an Associate Professor at Duke University, where he is the Associate Director of Clinical Research – GI Oncology and Co-Leader of the Molecular Tumor Board. He received his MD from the University of Chicago - Pritzker School of Medicine. He completed his fellowship training in Hematology and Medical Oncology at Duke University. Dr. Strickler's clinic specializes on the treatment of gastrointestinal malignancies, with a particular emphasis on colorectal cancer. His research focuses on precision cancer medicine: identification of genomic biomarkers that predict sensitivity or resistance to targeted therapies and immunotherapy. Nationally, he is a member of the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) Treatment Guidelines Committee for Advanced Colon Cancer.