

Faculty Bio

Kimberly Orleck, PA-C (Moderator)

PA-C at Atlanta Gastroenterology Associates

Chair of Education for Gastroenterology and Hepatology Advanced Practice (GHAPP)

Director of Advanced Practice Providers (APPs) for United Digestive

Atlanta, GA

Kimberly Orleck, PA-C, is a graduate of Emory University undergraduate school and then completed a Master in Public Health at the University of Chapel Hill with a focus in nutrition. After working as a dietician, she returned to Emory University for physician associate (PA) school. She has worked as a PA in gastroenterology (GI) for 14+ years and is also the Director of Advanced Practice Providers (APPs) for United Digestive, overseeing a team of 95+ APPs.

Kimberly is Chair of Education and on the board of trustees for Gastroenterology and Hepatology Advanced Practice (GHAPP). She serves on various committees such as the Advanced Practice Providers Committee for American College of Gastroenterology (ACG). This committee is working nationally to create modules for APPs in GI (both those who are novice and those who are more experienced) and the ACG Practice Management Committee. She also precepts and gives GI lectures to students from the Emory and Mercer PA programs.