

Faculty Bio

Elisabeth Heath, MD, FACP

Associate Center Director, Translational Sciences
Chair, Genitourinary Oncology Multidisciplinary Team
Professor of Oncology and Medicine
Hartmann Endowed Chair for Prostate Cancer Research
Director, Prostate Cancer Research
Karmanos Cancer Institute

Elisabeth Heath, MD, FACP is the associate center director of translational sciences at the Barbara Ann Karmanos Cancer Institute, where she leads the Genitourinary Oncology Multidisciplinary Team. She is also a professor of oncology at the Wayne State University School of Medicine. As the Patricia C. and E. Jan Hartmann Endowed Chair for Prostate Cancer Research, Dr. Heath is focused on conducting clinical and translational research trials in genitourinary oncology. She gives critical attention to the area of health disparities, particularly with regard to poor accrual of minority patients to prostate cancer clinical trials. She is the principal investigator of the Michigan Prostate Specialized Programs of Research Excellence (SPORE), co-principal investigator of a health disparity SPORE, and principal investigator of a Department of Defense grant in the nationally-recognized Prostate Clinical Trials Cancer Consortium.